

Hello partypeople!

Are you ready to get f*cking gezellig!?

Before we start, there are some things you need to know. Let us guide you through the game.

Symbols

All the symbols on your playing card are explained here. You can find the 'strafpunten' on the upper right corner of your card. The exclamation or question mark are placed next to the category symbol.

Strafpunt

This is the Dutch word for penalty point. The number stands for the amount of strafpunten

Repetitive strafpunt

Everytime you fail the challenge on the card, you have to drink the amount of strafpunten.

Joker

This is the Dutch word for Joker 🤡 Every joker represents a BN'er (famous Dutch person)

Uitroepteken

This is the Dutch word for exclamation mark. This symbol stands for a challenge.

Vraagteken

This is the Dutch word for question mark. This symbol stands for a question.

Categories

Every question or challenge is divided into four different types of categories. You can find the category symbol in the upper left corner of your card.

Cultuur

Cultuur is the Dutch word for culture. This category consists of questions and challenges about Dutch culture.

Taal

Taal is the Dutch word for Language. This category consists of questions and challenges about Dutch language.

Gewoontes

Gewoontes is the Dutch word for habits. This category consists of questions and challenges about Dutch habits.

Gezelligheid

Gezelligheid is the Dutch word for.. Well there is no translation. Ask you fellow players. This category consists of questions and challenges about

Rules

- The player who lives the furthest away from here begins.
- If you pull a question (?) ask someone else.
- If you pull a challenge (!) Do it yourself.
- Find the answer to the questions when you turn the card upside down.

Virgin version

First of all, this party game is not only for the alcoholics among us. You can easily play along with your spinach smoothie 🥬 If you don't drink alcohol, just count the strafpunten. The person who has the most strafpunten in the end, loses.

Drunkmode ON

Are you more of a daredevil? Then let's get wasted! Every strafpunt is a sip of your drink, unless the cards say otherwise. The amount of sips depends on the difficulty of the challenge or question, or sometimes we just want to screw you over 🤪
